The United States entered the war because it was impossible for her to do otherwise. By repeated acts of war, the German government thrust war upon the United States. The same challenge that was issued to all mankind in August 1914 was not accepted by the United States until 1917. The war was as much the United States' war as it was ours in 1914.

The Halifax Herald believes the St. Lawrence waterway question will have to be decided by the people of Canada. It says: "Its immense and far-reaching possibilities make it a problem too large to be disposed of by any government or Parliament unaided by the people themselves."

Rabindranath Tagore, India's great mystic poet, who attended the National Council of Education held in Vancouver last week, urged upon all his countrymen in Canada, to bring up their children in accordance with Canadian customs. Now that Hindoo women are permitted to come to this country, families can be reunited and Tagore said before them visions of a new happiness and impressed upon them the ideal of making good Canadians out of the offspring.

At no time right up to November 11th did the United States have more than half as many men facing the enemy as the British did in France alone. The British captured nearly four times as many prisoners and guns in the last three months of the war as the United States did in the whole war. A war is won by fighting therefore the above facts may speak for themselves.

"But perhaps the fighting is not under criticism but it may be the equipment with which we fought. Towards the close of the war, equipment such as machine-guns, tanks, guns, etc., were of vital importance, and the official figures, quoted by Major Drew, will bear out the fact that the British Empire did not shrink its responsibility in that respect."

DRAMATIC SOCIETY SCORES SUCCESS

Vulcan Dramatic Society presented on Monday and Tuesday evening at the Vulcan Theatre, a farce in three acts entitled "A Pair of Gloves," and to say that the offering was well received by the big audience, in no way describes the excellence of the entertainment.

The scene of the story is in New York and the play is written around a pair of lady's gloves found aboard a yacht just returned from a pleasure trip in which gentlemen only were supposed to participate. It will readily be seen that humorous situations readily arose, and of these the members of the society took every advantage. Of course the mystery is cleared up satisfactorily and in an unexpected manner, and of course, as the final curtain falls, everybody is happy.

The cast was: Walter Dillingham, "A dealer in real estate," Wan H. Scott; Blanche Dillingham, "his wife," Miss Yerna Graham; Jefferson Ruggles, "Walter's father-in-law," Guy Denbigh; Mrs. Ruggles, "Jefferson's wife," Miss Minnie Holmes; Robert Slocum, "A friend of the family," Fred L. Simington; Dora Ruggles, "in love with Slocum," Miss Helen Springton; Charlie Brooks, "a neighbor," P. R. Discher; Jim Ryan, "a theatrical manager," G. C. Collier; Elizabeth Brooks, "Charlie's wife," Miss Lucille Cross; Valdesa Bijou, "an actress," Miss Lillian Thompson.

To select any of the above players for special mention would be invidious, but it may truthfully be said that all displayed histrionic ability of considerable merit.

Vulcan band, under Frank Bird, rendered valuable assistance; and the scenery and stage effects were worthy of a really first-rate production, and reflect further credit on those responsible for the production.

"TRUTH ABOUT THE WAR"

Some months ago Vulcan branch of the Canadian Legion offered prizes for the best essay on the above subject from a student of the local high school.

The finding of the judges being very much at variance, and only four entries having been submitted, the executive of the Legion decided to divide the prize equally among the contestants.

We have pleasure in printing one of these essays, and hope to publish the remaining three in subsequent issues of this paper.

"At the outset I might say that I am certain this article would never have been written by Major Drew if it had not become necessary to take in the cudgels against certain United States magazines, who were publishing articles purporting to bear evidence that in the Great War the British Empire should its responsibility.

The people of the United States (and Canada too) are being asked to believe that the British Empire would never have won the war without the help of the United States. This is not true.

"The United States entered the war because it was impossible for her to do otherwise. By repeated acts of war, the German government thrust war upon the United States. The same challenge that was issued to all mankind in August 1914 was not accepted by the United States until 1917. The war was as much the United States' war as it was ours in 1914.

ODDFELLOWS ENTERTAIN

Local Oddfellows were, on Wednesday last, at their regular meeting, delighted to welcome visitors from Nanton Lodge, and for the benefit of Nanton and Vulcan brethren put on the third degree.

After business concluded the visitors were entertained to refreshments and dancing in which the assistance and company of local and visiting Rebekahs was greatly appreciated.

VULCAN WELL PRODUCING

Vulcan well No. 1 was brought back into production at the rate of 100 barrels per day on Friday morning, April 12th. Mr. A. J. Flood stated. Tools were run almost to the bottom of the hole, Friday morning, he says, and the flow came back quickly. Drilling continued until Sunday and officials state that satisfactory progress is being made, and no difficulty is anticipated in making the well a steady producer.

An effort may be made to fish out tools lost in the hole when production was first reached, but drilling to a deeper depth will be undertaken in any case.

Messrs. Peterson, Stack and Flood of the Vulcan Oils, were in Lethbridge Monday filing on a block of acreage in the Kirkcaldy area adjacent to holdings of the Hudson's Bay-Marland Oil Company, who will spend in the Champion well within a week. The derrick is finished and the drill is now being rigged up. About 500 acres were filed on by the Vulcan men.

HINTS AND GREETINGS

Writing from Emmett, Idaho, and enclosing his renewal subscription, Mr. Ray M. Davis, who is well known to many here, says some things which in our opinion, are worth handing along. Here is his letter:

Editor of Advocate:

Dear Sir or Mam (or whatever or whoever you are now). Glad to get the paper every week down, and so here at last is what is coming to you.

Please jog again your reader's minds that it is only their duty when any of them get born, baptized, married, divorced or killed, to properly in form their paper. One reader may not know them from an ox, but some other body will, and will be glad or sad as the case may be, to read the news.

Some readers may think that The Advocate does not go beyond Ensign, but I reckon it goes to most every state and province and to most foreign spots.

I was in Alberta a while last fall, but did not finish shaking hands all around before. I had to come down here again, so when I come up again I will have to shake hands twice with some, and with perhaps a few three times, as this is the third time I have run off in four years.

How is Mr. Daines, the guy with the stray gray parrot?

Wild duck and geese have been flying overhead the last few nights.

The Regina Leader declares that the success of drilling operations in Turner Valley has shown that Southern Alberta is rich in petroleum and may some day supply the needs of Western Canada if not the whole Dominion.

The British Empire produces only 17 per cent. of the world's output of oil, according to the London Times. Under these circumstances it is somewhat difficult to understand the lack of British interest in the Alberta oil fields.

The Halifax Herald believes the St. Lawrence waterway question will have to be decided by the people of Canada. It says: "Its immense and far-reaching possibilities make it a problem too large to be disposed of by any government or Parliament unaided by the people themselves."

SPRING CLEANING

This is the time of year when spring cleaning is likely to break loose in every home. While this spring orgy is looked upon as a selfish whim on the part of womenkind, organized chiefly to disrupt the placidity of life, yet to women themselves it is a time of painful partings, when all the old truck has to be scrapped to make room for new truck. So many keepsakes accumulate through the year; at the moment of their arrival the owner vows to keep them forever—the Christmas cards, the party favors, special letters, little sentimental tokens. To destroy them is like destroying happy memories, yet go they must.

Then there are the articles that the thrifty housewife dreads to discard, wifely waste makes woe of want, the broken chair that might be repaired if some one had the gimp to do it, the old shoes that some one might possibly use, the curtains that might be mended, the rags that really should be made into mats. To scrap or not to scrap. That is the question confronting every housewife. And full well, every woman knows that never does she throw anything away, but ten minutes later she has used for it. One of the painful processes is the discarding of old clothing, scraps of pajama stuff, remnants from dresses, patches for Tommy's pants. The best authorities assert that cleaning-up should be ruthless and complete. But as the smoke rises from the spring funeral pyres, every housewife groans in spirit, knowing that in all certainty she is unwittingly burning up things that are most precious, and that she is going to need the minute she has time to think it over.

COUNCIL OF EDUCATION

The National Council of Education in session at Vancouver, has passed a resolution favoring national broadcasting in the interest of education.

The government controlled radio in the Old Country has given wholehearted support to school work with splendid result. The British conceive of radio as a public utility rather than a private enterprise.

Mr. Meighen presided over the meeting and spoke of the present radio situation in Canada as "appalling."

"The amount of fodder, the opposite of intellectual, that comes over the radio is appalling and is going to remain so, while the selection of material for broadcasting remains in commercial hands."

If left to private enterprise, like magazines and moving pictures, it will cater to the patronage that is reflected in dividends for the stockholders. That is commercially sound, but will never achieve the best educational needs. Broadcasting would assist wonderfully in extra mural education for adults.

Many similar sentiments were expressed, discussion centering on the paucity of distinctly Canadian programs from across the border. Complaint was made of the few channels that had been allocated for Canadian stations.

The resolution favored uniting of provincial and dominion authority to organize broadcast service for educational benefit. The subjects which are best adapted for study by radio are: music, languages, history, English literature, nature study.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

New Smilie—"As popular as the Grain Commission."

Embarrassing question: "How much did you lose in the late slump?"

Call loans in New York went up to 20 per cent. But what difference does that make? You don't have to call them unless you want to.

Six weeks have gone by and they haven't discovered yet who planted that dynamite in the office of the Prime Minister of Quebec.

It might be well if we could "see ourselves as others see us" but it would detract a good deal from the joy of life.

Time was when a movie actress was seen and not heard, but from this out if she cannot be heard she won't be seen.

In the talkies articulation is what counts most, and English actresses are therefore in demand. A lot of popular stars are due for declension.

They join the ranks of those who have been reduced in numbers, or obliterated entirely, by new inventions or changed conditions. Blacksmiths and country postmasters for instance.

Some one asks why Smith is such a common name and the answer given is the survival of the fittest. By reason of his trade "the Smith a brawny man is he with large and sinewy hands." But how explain in line—Jones? Do all who try to live up to the Joneses' gradually acquire the name?

A lady asks the editor of a woman's page "why dentists persist in talking to you when you are in the chair." Perhaps it is because you are in the chair, and require entertainment during treatment. But it must be hard on the lady not to be able to talk back whenever she wants to.

Members of the Presbyterian General Assembly are incensed because the elections are called during the Assembly week, and, not knowing how they would vote if at home, each of the three parties in Great Britain, are at a loss to know just how far they have a grievance.

A Labor member at Westminster repeats the charge that miner harvesters were ill-treated in Canada. The only ill-treatment they got was when they were encouraged to come here as harvesters.

Lord Beaverbrook and Lord Rothermere are jockeying for position in the British elections, says a cable. Each wants to be the poll horse.

The late Sir Lomer Gouin was a patriot and a great Canadian. He made Quebec a power industrially and financially and enjoyed the confidence of the electors without regard to previous political affiliations.

A very lovable character was Sir Hugh John Macdonald, now deceased. He took a personal interest in everyone he met and there was nothing of envy, malice or uncharitableness in his composition. His name should appear on the scroll beside that of Abou Ben Adhem, as a lover of his fellow-men.

Lord Rothermere and Lord Beaverbrook own strings of newspapers in Great Britain and naturally regard themselves as two of the great powers, although each would not regard the other in that light. Each wants to be considered, after the event, as the power that spelled victory for the party he supported, the event may convince John Bull that one-man ownership of a lot of newspapers is a menace to his peace of mind. Control of many newspapers does not involve responsibility for control of the country, but it is hard for Rothermeres and Beaverbrooks to realize this.

SURE TO HAPPEN

Canadian hockey players, wearing U.S. uniforms and drawing fat U.S. salaries, are drawing the championships across the line. That's all right according to the technique of the professional and the theory of the full dinner pail. But somehow we shudder at the idea of reading one of these days that U.S. is outplaying Canada at its own national game.—Brooks' Bulletin.

NEW COWBOY SONGS

The popularity of the new cowboy song records, is threatening to displace all the "sweetie" and "hot mama" stuff that has been swamping the markets for some years now. The cowboy songs are characteristically plaintive—all about dogies, and barbed wire fences and heaven. But they are an immense relief, from the recent type of popular song. It has been rather blood-curdling to ancient folk brought up on the saccharine though strictly honorable sentiments of The Shade of the Old Apple Tree and The Good Old Summer Time, to listen to the themes and words of the current songs of the last few years.

As a matter of fact, do popular songs have any influence on popular life? Do the sentiments of catchy songs perpetually throbbing in the air, have any effect on actual life, or are they bubble?

Casting back into the dim ages of youth, there are memories of having been influenced in rather moony fashion by the cottages built for two and all the long years of faithful waiting that seemed necessary before the wedding ceremonies. But always the songs played up faithful love, even though despairing, and wedding rings and preachers and vine covered cottages.

Nowadays the whole trend has been hard and callous. Love me and leave me and see who cares—this has been the popular note.

There have been practically no deaths from unrequited love within late years. Yet in our day the woods were full of them, and the mocking bird always sang above the grave.

It may be that the words of songs carry no significance to young people. Let us hope so. In the meantime to all apprehensive older people, it comes as a distinct relief to hear a few songs about dogies and barbed wire fences. There is nothing debasing about a wire fence.

GOOD ROAD A MENACE?

Large sums of money are this year as usual, to be expended in making good roads into better roads and poor roads into good roads. This is good news to the motorists, the car salesman and to the farmer.

But this news also has a darker side. Good roads are all too often speed roads and to many they become through accident sad "Roads of Remembrance."

At this point a truck overturned with fatal results. At that point a child lingering on the roadway instead of scurrying for its life, was run down. At this railway crossing a family touring to see the world, was wiped out. This broken bridge marks where a car crashed through the railing.

Few roads in the country but are marked by tragic incident, in most cases unnecessary. Motoring is steadily taking such toll of life as has never before been known outside of war and plague. Will your name be on the list this year?

In England they are seriously discussing placing small barriers at intervals along speed-roads to check reckless driving. It seems unbelievable that it should be necessary to damage a good road to ensure safety, yet drastic action is called for.

New laws must be passed or old ones strictly enforced, to secure reasonable safety for the average careful motorist. "Safe roads" should be the next slogan. But how can they be attained?

OLD AGE PENSIONS

There have been a number of inquiries locally regarding the provisions, and requirements of the Old Age Pension Act. The following are the more vital points in connection with eligibility for pension:

To every person who at the date of the commencement of the pension is as follows: (1) a British subject, or a widow who before her marriage was a British subject; (2) has attained the age of 70 years; (3) has resided in Canada for twenty years immediately preceding date of commencement; (4) has resided in the province from which the pension is made for five years immediately preceding date of commencement; (5) is not an Indian as defined by the Indian Act; (6) is not in receipt of an income of as much as $365 a year; (7) has not made voluntary assignment or transfer of property for the purpose of qualifying under the Pension Act; (8) The receipt of pension shall not be a disqualification from voting on municipal or provincial elections; (9) The maximum sum paid shall be $240 yearly and this sum shall be subject to reduction by the amount of income of the pensioner in excess of $125.

There are other clauses and provisions in connection with the act, but the foregoing are the leading bases of qualification.

SOVIET CANADA

Canadians could scarcely be called alarmists. Indeed they are all too unlikely to regard with apprehension any Bolshevik tendencies which may be at work within their borders. Yet there is an organization rapidly spreading throughout the Dominion which is financed by Moscow. Its activities are such that the Chief of Police of Toronto was obliged to take action when a meeting, 1500 strong dispersed cheering for Revolutionary movement and Soviet Russia. Foreigners in the larger cities are being taught to hate the Canadian system of government.

This propaganda is stretching out its tentacles to the smaller communities. Soviet Apostles drift here and there through the country spreading their seeds of discontent. What can the humble private individual do to stem the rising tide? Watch for signs of its activities. Look into the attitude of mind of neighbor and fellow worker. The hired man, the domestic in the kitchen, the mechanic, may all be revolutionary in their tendencies for all you know. Talk to them and listen. And he prepared to reply to communist propaganda. National leaders may be powerful, governments be well entrenched, but it is the masses in Canada who ultimately dictate. What is the attitude of mind of your neighbors and employees.

LOCAL PRIDE

From a Palm Beach paper: "No one has been injured by a Ford car for 30 years in Palm Beach, but every day there are collisions between Rolls Royces and Hispanos. The injured parties are usually carried away by Minervas and placed in private cars by their own tracks." It certainly gives tone to a casualty who has been struck by a Rolls Royce.

FALL SHOW AND SALE

The district surrounding Lethbridge is in a particularly favorable situation insofar as the live stock industry is concerned, in that we have perhaps more than anywhere else in Canada the fortunate combination of an abundance of high-class roughages, a comparatively mild climate, as well as large numbers of cattle and sheep on the adjacent ranges, these being, generally speaking, of better breeding and quality than is found on feeder markets.

It has long been in the minds of men interested in the live stock industry of Southern Alberta that Lethbridge was a logical location to hold a show and sale of such stock as our range men have for sale and the irrigation farmers have need of in the utilization of fodder crops; also a show and sale of such breeding ewes and rams as will be required to satisfy the increasing demand for this class of livestock from the irrigation district.

The Lethbridge Exhibition Board is fostering and have appointed a committee to organize a show and sale of such stock as will be in demand this autumn, namely feeder steers, feeder lambs, ewe lambs, breeding ewes and rams.

The show and sale will be held at the Exhibition grounds at Lethbridge on Oct. 2 and 3, 1929. These dates are tentative and may be changed to suit seasonal developments. A sale at Lethbridge has a distinct advantage to both the seller and the purchaser, in that it will save unnecessary freight charges and unnecessary handling of stock.

The show and sale committee would welcome enquiries, either from those with stock to sell, or from prospective buyers. These should be addressed to the secretary of the committee, Mr. R. W. Gardner, Sherlock Bldg. Lethbridge, or any of the members of the show and sale committee, the personnel of which is as follows: M. L. Freng, R. W. Gardner, C. H. Giffen, Fred Horne, Alex. McKenzie, Wilbur McKenzie, N. T. Macleod, W. H. McIntyre, Arthur Newman and George Ross.

It is indicated that Alberta's coal shipments to Ontario during the special rate period will aggregate 200,000 tons.

The Alberta Department of Agriculture is encouraging the stocking of the province with pheasants. It has ordered 1200 Mongolian and Chinese ring-neck pheasant eggs for hatching on its demonstration farm this spring. About two thousand live pheasants and 3,000 eggs are being brought in to supplement the initial stocking effort of last year.

WHEAT SHIPMENTS

Record Made in Lethbridge Division
C. P. R. with 43,500,000 Bushels

A total of two and a half million bushels of wheat have been shipped out of the Lethbridge railway division during the month of March this year. According to figures of last year, shipments for that month in 1928 were about the same. It will be recalled that threshing last year was very late much of it being done in the early spring. Heaviest shipping took place in April, May and June, but with an estimated total of five million bushels yet in the hands of the farmers it is expected this will soon be cleared away.

During the past week, that is the last grain week from March 21 to 30, a total of 700,000 bushels of wheat were sent out to terminal points, storage stocks showing a decrease of a quarter of a million bushels. At present there is held in store 3,250,000 bushels of wheat and 300,000 bushels of other grains.

Shipments to date from the beginning of harvest August 1 last, now totals 38,500,000 bushels of wheat and 1,250,000 bushels of other grains. Total marketings from the Lethbridge railway division are reported by C.P.R. officials to be approximately 43,500,000 bushels of all grains. Adding to this the five million bushels still held by the farmers will bring the 1928 crop up to nearly 49 million bushels, a new high record.

Calgary grain inspections since the commencement of the grain shipping season on August 1 last year until March 30 this year are well ahead of those for the corresponding period twelve months ago.

The number of cars handled so far this season total 38,760 as compared with 31,449 last year. There were 37,054 cars of wheat, 965 cars oats, 677 cars of barley, 241 cars of rye, and three cars of flax.

Inspections during the past month were well maintained for the time of year, 4,377 cars altogether passing through the hands of T. W. Young, Dominion government grain inspector. Included in these were 63 cars of No. 1 Northern, 253 No. 2, 818 No. 3, 966 No. 4, 828 No. 5 and 782 No. 6.

JUST HANGING AROUND

The Earl of Egmont who in former years would have been getting on with the spring work, rising at 5 and quitting labor only when darkness fell is now according to report, spending much of his time in his castle "sitting, alone and brooding." He has a sore throat and has indigestion. He doesn't like the bread at the castle and he sums up rather pathetically: "I expect it is the change. I am used to hard work. Now I have nothing to do but hang around."

This is a grave warning to all us simple sons of toil and soil. A castle may carry with it much heavier trials than the simple scrambling for daily bread. The Earl is apparently worried about the high cost of living perhaps more than he was at Priddis. He is reported as saying "I may live at Avon for a time, but it means a lot of money. Money going out on it all the time. A place like this is for the rich man. I may be able to sell the place and may do so. I shall get a tutor for my boy who is bright and will soon learn."

In the meantime the Earl's heir is playing with the village boys round the village square. This is contrary to all tradition and a very perplexing proceeding.

A monument is to be erected to Sir Adam Beck, the father of Ontario hydro. The monument will cost $25,000 and will be placed on University Avenue, Toronto near Hydro headquarters. It will be in the form of a bronze statue of Sir Adam Beck.

WHAT IS A TEACHER

The qualities worth looking for in a teacher are described by an editorial in "The Household Magazine," as follows:

1. Brains of course. A teacher is no good unless he or she has natural intelligence plus education. A teacher is employed to teach.

2. Personality. Good looks are an asset in teaching as in everything else. People who think school teachers ought to be homely are plain fools. Ugliness has no value except in a sideshow. Good looks are not the most important thing, however. Taste in dress, a quiet, pleasing voice, poise of manner, ability to understand all sorts of pupils, are more important.

3. Tolerance. Most of us are none too tolerant. Children get notions of intolerance at home. Intolerance is stimulated by their desire to conform to the crowd. It means much to the future of children if they have a teacher who views actions and ideas and people coolly, without anger, without sentimentality. A teacher who loves truth and beauty but knows that any of us may be wrong about what truth and beauty are. Such a teacher will develop patience, honor, tolerance in boys and girls. She will give them a better start than most of us got.

PEOPLE WHO KILL A TOWN

Every community has people who work hard to build up, make it a better place to live and make a living.

But there are "people who kill a town." The Halifax Herald has been doing some observing, and here is the way it lists the latter:

"Those who oppose improvements."

"Those who distrust public-spirited men."

"Those who show no hospitality to anyone."

"Those who hate to see others make money."

"Those who oppose every improvement that doesn't originate with themselves."

"Those who use a hammer, but have no use for nails."

Just how do you stack up as regards High River, Vulcan, Blackie or the town in which you may be living? Are you trying all the time to breathe new life into it—or are you trying to kill it?

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Considerable land has been sold around Bassano this spring, including the Canadian Pacific White Farm of 2,560 acres. The farm was sold to a party of Americans and will be taken over on January 1st, 1930, and in the meantime operated by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Town Planning Commissioner Seymour, while at Milo, addressed the ratepayers of Marquis M.D., in regard to the beautification of the Lake McGregor park, as a municipal park. This may be made a wonderful beauty spot with bathing beach and many natural attractions.

In a reminiscent mood a writer to the Bowmanville Statesman says he "remembers when lucifer matches were almost unknown and nearly every farmer carried a small piece of flint, a jackknife and some dry spongy tinder called 'punk' to kindle fires in the house or on the farm." All of which goes to show how young Canada is and to give reason for marvel at the progress made.

Down in Ontario, they are requiring fishing licenses this spring for the first time. Terrible cries of anguish are rising from those who have all their lives been used to doing their fishing for the price of tea bait. It is a great thing to be inured to suffering. Albertans have a more highly developed stoicism in this respect than the fisher folk of Ontario. They expect to pay a license for everything but the air they breathe.

U. T. A. RESOLUTIONS

A resolution passed at the A. T. A. meeting in Edmonton, favored vocational high schools of a practical rather than academic nature. Another resolution advocated raising the passing mark for Grade VIII examinations to 50 per cent. on each unit. This passed. Annual grants will be urged upon the provincial government for school libraries. In reference to High Schools, it was felt that two classes of secondary schools should be available, one primarily for scholarship and one for general practical education. There should be vocational training available to those not desiring to take academic training beyond Grade VIII. These resolutions will be presented to the Department of Education with the hope of getting some action, or at any rate some statement.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Parliament stands adjourned during Easter but even so, it is doubtful whether it would be feasible or desirable to have Easter last all the year.

"The Clue of the New Pin" is the title of a mystery story, and, like all other mystery stories, the point is at the end.

Wars in Mexico and China are very unsatisfactory. It is so hard to tell which is the rebel army, and no civil war is complete without one.

Premier King discovered after he passed the Old Age Pension bill that it is a mistake for the federal government to hand money over for the provinces to spend. On general principles it is a mistake to have one man raising the money and another man spending it.

Such a thing is inconceivable in Aberdeen and should not be attempted elsewhere.

The man who has the power of raising the money should have the responsibility of expending it.

Therefore we agree with Aberdeen and Hon. Mackenzie King.

The trouble with the oil industry is over-production, says an authority. We are free to say that the trouble is not going to be aggravated by many of the oil companies now being organized.

Surely this is the last one: The definition of "rigid economy" is "a dead Scotchman."

The attention of the Prohibition Union is called to the fact that money is just as tight in the United States as it is here.

Sir George Paish forecasts commercial depression. That's good news. Paish is regarded by himself as an economist and has made many prognostications in the past that weren't even sometimes right.

This "hybrid ticket" they talk about in parliament must be the one that Bourassa runs on.

Poetical people are the Chinese. Instead of saying a man is dead, they say he is "sleeping on the terrace of night." Candid, too. They don't pretend that death has no terrace for them.

It is a compliment to Napoleon that Foch should rest beside him. In many respects Foch was the greater man.

The government of Ontario has decided that the municipalities shall bear twenty per cent of the old age pension, and there is a good deal of dissatisfaction from people who believe that it doesn't cost them anything so long as it is all paid by the government. Under this plan the federal government pays 50%; the provincial government 30%. The fact that the municipality pays the balance is a guarantee that the Act will be administered without abuse.

Let's agree that the modern girl uses powder and rouge more frequently than her Victorian grandmother, but let's do her the justice of observing that she does it more openly. We can't avoid observing it.

THIS ONE NOT SPOILED

A boy of twelve with an air of melancholy resignation, went to his teacher and handed in the following note from his mother before taking his seat:

"Dear Sir: Please excuse James for not being present yesterday. He played truant, but you needn't whip him for it, as the boy he played truant with and him fell out, and he licked James; and a man they threw stones at caught him and licked him. Then licked him when he came home after which his father licked him; and I had to give him another for being impudent to me for telling his father. So you need not lick him until the next time. He thinks he will attend regular in the future."

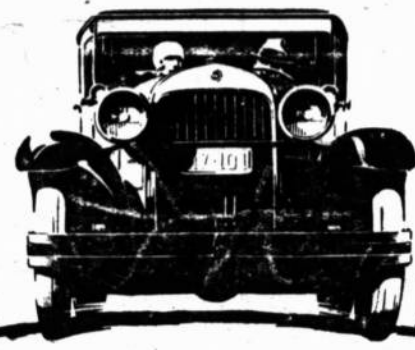

Although it is early in the season for touring, yet it is well for Canadians planning a U.S. tour to keep in mind, that on March 4 a new act of Congress was approved, which declares in effect, that any temporary visitor who overstays his visit and is deported, is permanently barred from entering United States. Motorists are apt to fail to realize that the "special tourist" permits must be regarded carefully as regards duration and time limit.

ADVERTISING SPACE

Every line in a newspaper costs the proprietor something. If it is for the benefit of an individual or an organization it should be paid for. Nearly every week we are requested for a few lines of advertising of some event or other, and yet we are expected to pay our way for anything we at tend or buy. If the grocer were asked to contribute groceries to one abundantly able to pay for them, he would refuse. The proprietor of a newspaper must pay for the free advertising if the beneficiary does not, and yet it is one of the hardest things to be learned by many that a newspaper has space in its columns to rent and must rent this space to live. To give away rent for anything less than living rates is as fatal to a newspaper as for a landlord to furnish rent free. —The Armstrong Advertiser.

In some hospitals they have to give a patient ether twice—once for the operation and the second time to keep her from talking about the operation.

THE TABLE FORK

The table fork, so common to us, is a comparatively recent acquisition. Two-pronged serving forks were used by the ancients, but as an instrument for eating, the fork was not accepted until the 17th century. Although Queen Elizabeth (1558-1603) owned one or two which she kept as curios from another race, it was her proud boast that in eating she never soiled her fingers above the second joint.

Selling an old lady a gallon of gasoline with which to start the kitchen fire nearly always results in the sale of a new kitchen range.

HARROW PLOWS

McCormick - Deering Harrow Plows are built in two sizes, 6-foot and 9-foot. The disks are heat-treated, crimped - centre disks, 20 inches in diameter. In addition to the heavy, chilled iron end-thrust bearing, there are four dust - proof bearings on the 9-foot plow and three on the 6-foot plow. All disk and axle bearings are equipped with Alomite - Zerk oilers.

Alcohol is excellent for preserving almost everything except secrets.

A WARNING

Don't let your silage that has been feed to the animals spoil in the troughs. Feed them only as much as they can clean up quickly. Spoiled silage will kill either a sheep or a horse.

What is it that has 26 letters and only three syllables? Why "alphabet".

A HARNESS HELP

If the tie ropes are attached to the inside hame instead of the outside, which is the usual practice, and the reins are put over the tie rope before they are snapped on the bit, there will be no difficulty with the reins, getting under the end of the pole.

FIELD CULTIVATOR RIGID

The gang drawbars on the McCormick - Deering Field Cultivator are so rigidly fastened that the shovels cannot dodge around long-rooted, tough weeds. Every thing is sliced off under the ground.

WONDER OIL WELL

Wealth, Waste and Peril All Pouring from Quiet Valley

Alberta's Wonderful Oil Possibilities

Practical Side of Production Nothing Short of Spectacular, Says Writer.

Paul Reading, special writer for the Southern papers, is on a visit to Alberta for the purpose of investigating conditions and compiling information regarding developments now in progress in Turner Valley oil field. He speaks in the highest terms of Alberta's oil possibilities and writes as follows to The Calgary Herald:

You ride over smooth brown hills through what was once the cattle country. You pass the town of Okotoks and turn southwest. Presently an unfamiliar odor arises to your nostrils, a sweet, strange reek in the wind off the mountains that will cling in your clothes and your thoughts for weeks.

You may go to Turner Valley with a mind to measure it in terms of oil or acreage or easy money; you will see and remember it as a colossal prank of nature, a phenomenon that thought it strikes the eye, is a little beyond imagining. Riches bursting from the ground like steam from a whistle; imponderable forces far underfoot that men grope for gingerly, knowing that when they touch what they seek it may destroy them; waste and wealth and peril all pouring in a flood from the lap of the tranquil hills. This is the valley as you find it. Your car purrs through the little village of Black Diamond, and the reek grows stronger. It crosses Sheep Creek, noses its way up onto a bench on the far side, and you get your first view. In the foreground is the Royaltie absorption plant, beyond it a cluster of offices, a compact cross-roads town, and a straggling parade of derricks, bright or brown according to their newness, with storage tanks and boiler houses littered at their feet.

What seizes the eye, though, is a tall, pale flame standing ghostly in the daylight across the valley. It crouches and leaps in the breeze, burning without smoke and apparently without fuel dazzling, yet casting no shadow. It has an air of uncomfortable sham, like street lamps at sunrise. It is only when you hear the roar of it that you sense its reality.

Approach it, and you find that the thin white line leading up to it is an eight inch gas pipe rimmed thick with frost to within six inches of where the great flame dances at its mouth. The ground is seared red for fifty feet around and beyond that there is a circle of perpetual summer where the grass grows lush; but the escape of pressure along that giant gas jet creates a cold storage system upon which even this heat can make no impression. The noise of it shakes the ground. There are other flames dotted about the valley—enough of them to light up the whole sky at night—and each represents the waste by-product from an oil well. There is fuel-gas enough here to supply the whole of Alberta, if Alberta could use it. Calgary consumes what she can, but mother earth has been too prodigal; and while an experiment is on foot to store some of it underground by forcing it down an unproductive well, the only successful means of disposal so far is to burn it for safety—scores of millions of feet of it every day.

The fruitful side of production is less spectacular; its violence is hidden from the eye. A steel casing emerges a few feet from the ground; it runs a mile downward into the earth, but that is not apparent, the coating of frost upon it is the only evidence of what is within. It leads to an upright cylinder ten feet high, inside which the fine fog of naphtha is being extracted from the gas by the force of its own impact against a series of metal baffles. From it, liquid and gas are led in different directions, one to feed the flame and one to make the thirty-mile journey to Calgary driven by the same pressure that thrust it above ground. No one sees the naphtha till it has passed through the refinery at Calgary, though the smell of it is all-prevailing.

Royaltie No. 4 is the wonder well of the valley. For four years it has been gushing up naphtha at the rate of 500 barrels a day; but it is the least conspicuous feature of the field. You could pass within fifty yards of it and not see it.

Sometimes, however, a well runs amok; and then it is not to be overlooked. I saw Okalta No. 1 shortly after it had blown in for the second time. It had gone off like a gun with out warning and was now hurling a thick column of vapor fifty feet into the air. Men with gas masks were commencing the stubborn task of bringing it back under control. It might take days or weeks to subdue that bellowing monster, but it had to be done; and meanwhile all fires in the neighborhood were extinguished, for naphtha is as explosive as dynamite, and it was spouting out of that hole at the rate of sixty tons a day.

It takes men of fibre for work of this sort, and men of fibre they are in Turner Valley; a hard-bitten crew who have wandered from Oklahoma

STAMPEDE FEATURE

Swell Eats for Round Up Outfits at Stampede

Guy Weadick has planned a new feature for Calgary Stampede week, which will bring to the front the real old timers of Western Canada in a new way. There will be "swell eats."

This will be a dinner, arranged by J. J. McGuire, manager of the Palliser hotel, for men who actually followed round-up outfits from Swift Current, in the east, to the mountains on the west, and from Red Deer, on the north, to the international boundary line, previous to December 31, 1899.

"This will be the most remarkable gathering attempted," remarked Guy Weadick. "These men will be able to tell the most wonderful stories ever heard or read of the earliest pioneer days in Alberta. Many of them have long since 'stepped over' but there is quite a fair number still alive. It will be a gathering that will be long remembered."

Mr. Weadick stated that those who were eligible, that is, men who were cowpunchers, cooks and what not, as well as ranchers themselves, prior to December 31st, 1899, should get in touch with him, care of the Calgary exhibition office, giving the following information: The ranch or ranches they were employed by; the name and owner of the ranch; the range they covered; the captain of the round-up; and the working boss of their outfit. "This gathering will certainly be an eye-opener," stated Guy Weadick.

REWARD WHEAT

The Dominion Cerealists advise that the supply of Reward wheat available for distribution this spring is now completely exhausted. He states that at least five thousand farmers will be testing this new, promising variety this year throughout the three Prairie Provinces, the result of which test should go far to determine the future of the variety, at least in many sections.

Since the amount of seed available to each farmer through the Federal Department this spring was only two bushels, the area sown in each case will necessarily be small; the above official consequently urges that special care be taken to prevent contamination by other varieties. He suggests particularly, that the seed be sown on dry breaking or on summer fallow, and that the seed plot be surrounded with a drill well sown to some other crop such as oats, the latter to be cut before reaching full maturity. Care will also have to be taken in the harvesting and threshing, otherwise this seed will become mixed and rendered relatively valueless.

TODAY'S LESSON

If all the good were clever,
And if all the clever were good
The world would be nicer than ever
We thought that it possibly could
But somehow it's seldom or never
The two hit it off as they should,
The good are so harsh to the clever,
The clever so rude to the good.

Campaigns to eradicate weeds are in progress now. Much better time to get busy than when the weeds are ready to go to seed.

A prominent local bridge player announced last week to a party of friends that she had discovered where her husband had been spending his evenings. She stayed home one evening last week and found him there.

"Make me a child again, just for tonight,"
Once said a Scotchman—and Scotchmen are tight;
"I leave tonight on a boat trip up there;
Make me a child—and I'll travel half fare!"

To Chile with risk as their workmate. I spent two days around a well that was showing signs of blowing in. As you looked down into the black mouth of the casing you could hear a steady growl coming from more than a mile below, and the rush of escaping gas was spitting up a spray of naphtha. A lighted match in that derrick-house would have blown it to splinters. Run ning down the well were over three tons of cable and drilling tools, and no one knew when they might be hurled upward like so much cork and string. Royaltie No. 14 has since blown in and it shot a half-ton section of steel rod three hundred feet into the air like the shell from a howitzer, killing two men.

At the end of twenty-four hours the thing was getting on my nerves, and I admitted it to one of the drillers. "Yes," he responded quietly "we've had weeks of this, and I wish the damned old thing'd blow in."

These things are but the outward symptoms of the force that man has scratched with his puny tools. Far underfoot is a pent-up volcano of petroleum that spurts up liquid wealth with explosive exuberance wherever the drills prick it. No one has measured the pressure behind it nor guessed its extent. It has yielded millions of dollars in found money and the whole of Canada is gambling that it will yield many millions more. Be that question of profits as it may; to walk along Turner Valley and wonder what is beneath ones feet is itself a thing to stir the blood. The might of it and the immensity of it are more fascinating than anything that can be put into figures.

Walter, after winning in the southern Alberta division, was given the judges' decision by a narrow margin over Gwendolyn Gant of Grande Prairie, the northern Alberta semi-finalist, in the final contest at Edmonton, Friday night. As the result of his victory, in addition to winning a handsome cash prize, he will be given a trip as the guest of the Calgary Herald and Edmonton Journal, to Toronto where he will compete with representatives of the other provinces for the Dominion championship.

Arbor Day, Monday, May 6th

Monday, April 6th, has been named as Arbor day by decision of the Provincial Government. On this day special attention will be paid through out the province to the planting of trees and flowers and the beautification of homes and grounds.

P. E. I. will have a deposit of about $30,000 for the coming year, is the opinion of Premier Saunders.

A Bowden boy sold a baby beef the other day for $2820. And still we know people who don't believe in mixed farming.

Mrs. E. Odgers who has just returned from Australia, is visiting with her sister, Mrs. F. C. Mason.

Mrs. G. W. Swartz left on Tuesday evening 9th for Forest Grove, Oregon to visit her daughter, Mrs. Geo. Lockett, who is sick.

Our sympathy extends to Mrs. Frank Ruark who received the sad news of her brother's death, Mr. T. A. Fitting of Kootenai, Idaho.

Ensign Church services every Sunday afternoon at the schoolhouse. Preaching at 3 p.m. by the Rev. J. J. Farquhar; Sunday school at 2:30 conducted by Mrs. A. Smith. Everybody welcome.

A jolly afternoon was spent Saturday 13th, when thirty young folk played all kinds of games, and no end of fun at the home of Mrs. A. Smith by celebrating Leonard's eleventh birthday.

A three act play entitled "Deacon Dobbs" was well presented at the schoolhouse Friday evening by the Redland W. I. to a large audience who thoroughly enjoyed the program. During the intermission a piano solo was given by Miss Lillian Dennis and a recitation by Claude Bourque in which both were well received. After the play was over, a dance followed. Music was furnished by Miss K. O'Connell and Mr. J. Robinson, refreshments being served by the Ensign W. I. The collection for the evening brought a very pleasing amount.

The Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. P. L. Bourque, Tuesday afternoon, April 12th. There were 21 members present. Mrs. J. Ferguson president, opened the meeting by all singing "The Maple Leaf" and followed by the "Creed." Mrs. A. M. Meyers, secretary, read the roll call which was answered with Easter verses. Minutes were then read. Arrangements were then made for the play and dance which were to be put on by the Redland W. I. for Friday evening and it was then discussed not to send a delegate to the provincial convention this year. Owing to the bad weather the reading on Legislation which was to be given by Mrs. D. H. Galbraith was postponed to a further date. A vote was then given to all members to wear gingham dresses during the summer months at the meetings and the next meeting, a special day for grandmothers to be invited, which will be held at the home of Mrs. L. E. Elston, May 14th. Refreshment were served by Mrs. Elston and Mrs. J. Eamor.

The story of the Flood and Noah's Ark is to be made into a talking movie. It will be great to hear Noah declaiming in the accents of Hollywood. Collingwood Bulletin: The gossip came in for a timely and well deserved rebuke at an inquest at Owen Sound, when the evidence went to show that a mother of two young children took her own life through worry due to the wagging tongues of neighbors. The pity of it is that those upon whom rests the responsibility for the death cannot be brought within the pale of the law. Too often are characters ruined and lives wrecked by the repeaters of "they say," "it is said" and similar beginnings. Well might it be remembered that "Whoever keeps an open ear for tattlers will be sure to hear the trumpet of contention."

"We can also refute any charge that we did not do our share on the sea. The Grand Fleet comprised, on the day of the surrender of the German High Seas Fleet, two hundred and eighty-two warships of all sizes. Of these, five were American, three French and the rest British.

"We do not want to glorify war or our share in it, but the charge, that we shirked our responsibility in the Great War or any other war, is not true. We are proud of our achievements (not boastful) and by telling the truth about the Great War, the loss of life, the horrors, suffering, and untold misery, perhaps we may be able to convince future generations just how much peace is to be prized.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

It used to be that reckless souls were said to burn the candle at both ends. Now they have cut the candle in two and burn it at all four ends.

The early grain that was sowed some weeks ago by the early birds of Cayley is reported to be up. It is predicted that in the long run it will be well ahead of the later sowing, and appears to be holding its own against the recent frost and cold.

A number of laborers are arriving in the town for the spring work and gradually are being picked up. The weather so far has given local farmers little opportunity of getting down to the real rush of spring work. It is expected that within a few days, general workmen will be much in demand.

This is the time of year when people take stock of their household effects in anticipation of the annual big clean-up. In most homes it is usually found that sundry articles are missing—the sharpest hoe, the little saw, quantities of nails, a can of paint and several paint brushes. Strangely and apologetically gone. The only one who knows where they went is junior and he has forgotten.

Ten pair of live muskrats were shipped from Edmonton recently to England. This shipment, the first of its kind to be made from Western Canada, will form the nucleus of breeding stock for a large English fur raising concern. The shipper, A. C. McAdams, states that if this trial proves successful, several thousand more rats will be shipped within the next few months. This shipper has also received orders for live rats from Czechoslovakia.

It will interest many of our readers, particularly stockmen, of the action taken recently by the Agricultural Department at Ottawa, who have taken charge of the Livestock Exchange at Toronto as a result of the non-observance of a ruling made by the department whereby livestock commission merchants are required to deposit funds of their patrons in a trust account instead of their own private account. This is a fine effort on the part of the government to protect producers of live stock from possible loss as there have been cases of live stock commission merchants going broke who were unable to pay their customers in full after shipment was made to them. It is interesting to note that the ruling was made several years ago, as a direct result of recommendation made by Mr. G. G. Cooté the representative from Macleod, who has given such matters his sincerest attention.

One feature of the Spring Livestock Show in Calgary, which was commented upon by A. A. MacDonald of Toronto, president of the Hereford Breeders' Association was the remarkably fine manner in which the animals had wintered. It was conceded by visitors from other parts of the Dominion that Alberta stockmen have attained a wonderful degree of efficiency in their work. They have shown that they can produce some of the finest cattle in the world. The array of Shorthorns, Aberdeen Angus and Herefords displayed ranked very high in quality. In point of numbers there were more cattle entered in this show than since the year 1918. Another encouraging sign of the times was the greatly increased interest shown by boys and girls of the ranches and farms. Marked progress has been made within the last year or two, in the capability of the young people in raising cattle. The baby beef competition was very keenly contested. The young people are the ranchers and cattle raisers of tomorrow and they are receiving fine grounding in producing worth-while live stock in Alberta.

Calvin Coolidge his own best critic: What I regard as the most important accomplishment of my administration was minding my own business.
